"I received a call from a Daystar prayer counselor last week just when I needed it most. I had stopped by my house to change clothes to head back to the hospital where my mother was very sick. We have now been able to bring her home. God bless Daystar!" – Brenda

"Thank you so much for the prayer partner that called us. His prayers were so powerful and the anointing was so strong, I couldn't stop crying. Even though we are a million miles apart, you called and that shows us just how much God loves us. Thank you very much!" – Jack and Jane

"I support quite a few ministries and you are the only one who has ever called me to pray with me about a prayer request I had mailed in. I am very thankful and impressed with your compassion." – Gayl

From Joni's Heart...

Can you believe that August is already here? With busy routines and back to school just around the corner, it's a perfect time to start thinking about ways to incorporate prayer into our quickly filling schedules.

As we become busier, prayer is often the first thing to go when it should be something that never leaves our to-do list. To ensure that this doesn't happen, we need to make prayer a priority in our own lives, as well as in our families.

Maybe this means praying with your children before they get on the bus in the morning, or in the car on the way to school. Or perhaps you could sneak in a quick devotional while the kids are eating breakfast and preparing for the day ahead. When we choose to make prayer a priority we become more sensitive to the Holy Spirit working in and through our daily lives, and we begin to experience His blessings on a whole new level.

So, as you begin planning for the busy season ahead, make sure to incorporate prayer into your daily routine. And be prepared to experience the blessings of doing so in your family every day! .

RETAINED LIFE ESTATE— KEEP IT TO GIVE IT

The Multi Advantage Gift

Leaving a Lasting Legacy through Daystar to impact the Kingdom of God has never been easier. Turn your real estate into that Kingdom Legacy for you and your family!

This gift allows you to enjoy the tax advantages offered by a charitable gift to Daystar of real estate or real property. Continue living in and enjoying your personal residence for the rest of your life. Although you reserve your right to use the real estate for life, a gift of your primary home, farm or ranch, commercial or business real estate, rental property, vacation home, lake house, or raw land results in a charitable deduction on your income-tax return. Just some of the benefits include: reduce income & estate taxes; create charitable cash flow allowing for efficient gifting methods and thereby unlocking more dollars for the ministry now without selling the real estate or property; create innovative asset transfer opportunities (2nd generation, 3rd party, family, key employee, etc.)

Additional ways to donate to Daystar include non-cash gifts, e.g., jewelry, antiques, airplanes, relics, art, vehicles, etc. We can also assist you with your employer matching gift programs, charitable trusts, charitable gift annuities, bequests, immediate gifts, Daystar Legacy Fund, wealth replacement trusts, gifts of insurance and much more.

SPOTLIGHT devotional

by Alan Bullock

Buying school books and clothes, and of course covering our kids with prayer as they start back to school this month, begins another important season in their lives. Just like our children, our spiritual journey starts from the moment we place our trust in Christ Jesus and continues until we grow into Christlikeness. You are not finished growing YET! You have the ability to learn, mature and grow spiritually throughout your lifetime. One's spiritual education never ceases, no matter the

"But grow in grace, and [in] the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and forever." 2 Peter 3:18

age. To accomplish God's challenging life-assignments requires growing in our understanding of what it means to be a Christian, always expanding our personal knowledge about him through regular devotions, Bible studies, prayer and time alone with the Father. Some of our homework assignments might include: Learning the importance of fellowship, evangelism and church; Learning how to follow God's direction and not our feelings; Learning how to love others as Christ loves them; Learning the danger of misplaced confidence in self and not God. God is STILL at work in your life. You are pulsing with promise and opportunity. Like faith, spiritual growth was never intended to be a destination, a status or a plateau. Growth is a path, a road out of the old destructive habits into new and exciting adventures in Christ. Take this month and get back into the School of the Shalom where well-being, wholeness and 'life to the full' await EVERY student of God.

GETTING TO KNOW JOYCE

INTERVIEW WITH JOYCE MEYER

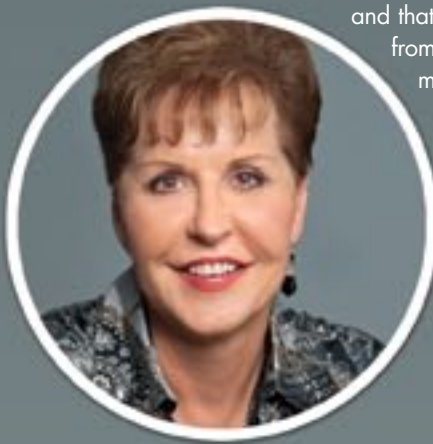

Briefly tell us about how you came to Christ?

My parents didn't go to church, but when I was nine years old, I went with my cousin and her family while I was visiting them. I had heard about Jesus and somehow knew I wanted to be saved. So I was determined to go forward and accept Christ as my Savior that day. But when the service was over, the preacher didn't ask people to come forward if they wanted to be saved. I was so upset but I took my cousin by the hand and drug her with me to the front of the church and begged the pastor to "save me." That's when I prayed and accepted Jesus as my Savior, but I didn't learn how to grow spiritually and develop a personal relationship with Him until years later.

What was one significant thing that changed in your life after you got saved?

I remember having this determination that someday, I would do something great. It would rise up in my heart at times when I was told I would never be anyone or do anything. I battled a mindset that I would only have a second-rate life for a long time because of the abuse and shame I felt from it. But God was in my heart, and that's where the determination came from to hope I could be more and do more than that.

God's perfect, unconditional love and faithfulness are what brought me through all of the healing, restoration and breakthroughs I desperately needed so I could become what He created me to be!

As a mother, how were you able to balance raising your children with running a ministry?

I didn't always manage my time and priorities the best way, and in the beginning of our ministry, I was a workaholic for a while. But God taught me through the years how to use wisdom to establish the priorities He was calling me to and keep my focus on them. I had to learn how to say "no" when I needed to and not feel guilty about it, when to take time to rest, and when to work.

Keeping your priorities straight is not a one-time thing; it's something I have to do every day. And I couldn't do it without God's direction and the help He gives me through my family and the wonderful staff we have working with us.

How has Daystar, and Christian television in general, impacted your ministry?

We are very grateful for the opportunities we have to partner with television networks like Daystar to share the Gospel with people around the world. While I love teaching the Word at conferences where we often have thousands attend, it's exciting to know we can reach millions of people through the broadcast. In fact, we currently have a potential audience of 4.5 billion people through the Enjoying Everyday Life program. That's amazing to me!

Our goal is to share the Gospel and teach the Word to as many people as we can so they can know Christ and have the life He died to give them. Modern media is a great way to do this.
